LOCAL PHONOGRAPH WINNING SUCCESS

Mishawaka-Made Machine to Be Demonstrated at Theater Today.

Considerable interest will be shown in the concert to be given at the Blackstone theater this afternoon and evening by the Seabrook concert phonograph, which reproduces with great exactness of tone qualities a selection from Pagliacci by the late Enrico Caruso.

It is not generally known that the Seabrook phonograph is a product built locally. The Seabrook concert phonograph is the invention of B. R. Seabrook, one of the best known consulting Canadian engineers. He came here over a year ago and associated himself with the Dodge Manufacturing Co. of Mishawaka.

The Seabrook phonograph is manufactured at plant five of the Dodge Manufacturing Co.

The phonograph is perhaps one of the most unusual of all made in the United States as it is in many ways a radical departure from accepted phonograph design. These changes in construction are carried out in minute detail by the manufacturer and extend all through the manufacture and assembly of the completed units.

Blurring Eliminated. Even the type of gasket used in the diaphragm differs materially from the usual type, as the one used in the Seabrook is a gasket which entirely eliminates the blurring and mellowing of individual sound waves which too often ruins the recreation of an artist's record.

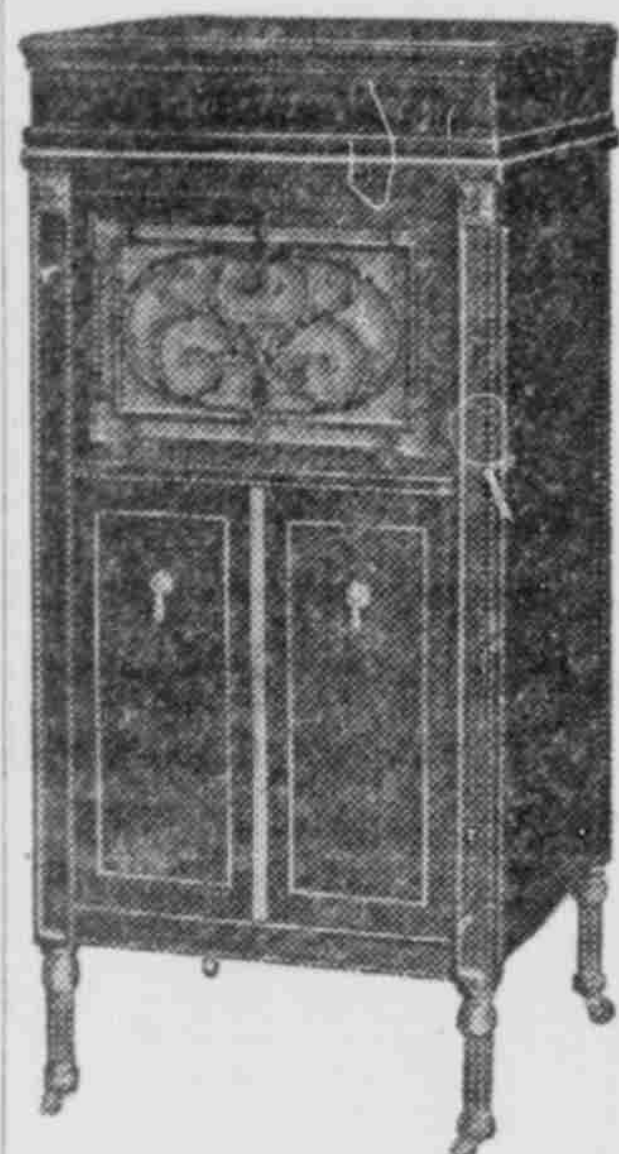

Mr. Seabrook, the inventor, bases no little part of the success of the phonograph upon the shape of the horns which is constructed in strict accordance of the laws of acoustics, or rather diacoustics and catoustics, which respectively treat of the transmission of sound waves coming directly to the ear and of the reflected sound waves. In the phonograph made here the amplifying chamber gradually decreases in area-thickness toward the discharge chamber and this thickness increases or decreases the volume of projected tone in proportion to the ratio of thickness of the horn.

The effect of all these mechanical innovations, results in a phonograph which is absolutely unique in mechanical design and whose reproduction is pleasing in clearness, sweetness and volume of tone. Every phonograph is equipped to play all standard makes of records and the reproduction of these records is so faithful in shading and tonal quality that the customary "phonograph" sound is always absent.

The fact that the local phonograph has exceptional tone value and carrying power, less all unpleasant loudness opens an entirely new field for the larger types which are made in several body styles covering various periods.

Those who care to make the experiment at the Blackstone today will discover the unusual fact that the volume is constant and pleasing from any position in the house, from orchestra seats to seats in the topmost gallery.

One of the models of the Seabrook concert phonograph, which is made in Mishawaka. This one is the Louis XVI Modern model.

CENTURY. Three acts of vaudeville, a five-part romantic drama entitled, "The Fighting Lover," and a Century comedy are the features at the Century theater this afternoon and evening. The variety bill is topped by Brown, Lee and Williams, in the musical skit, "Walters Wanted." Smith and Warren, a singing and dancing duo and Allen and Ball, acrobats working on a double trapeze, are the other interesting and entertaining numbers offered. Francis Mayo is the star of "The Fighting Lover," a picture replete with romance, thrills and excitement, and centering about a young man's attempts to find a sweetheart for his friend who is a woman hater, and the intrigues, dramatic situations and mysterious crime that results.

Henry Roquemore's Musical Comedy Revue has been secured by Manager Senger of the Century for one entire week, starting tomorrow. There are 18 people in the cast, all peppy, youthful stars, whose undeniable ability has won the praise of critics in nearly every town. This talent, combined with special costumes and scenery, give the patrons more for their money than any other organization of its kind that has visited the city this season. Mr. Roquemore, himself a round comedian, heads the cast, while Fern Emmett, Fred Faustler, Brandaux and Smith, Violet Culver and Tom Allard have important parts in the music and fun-making.

PVT. TOWN'S BODY WILL ARRIVE SOON

Parents of World War Hero Receive Communication From War Dept.

Another South Bend hero of the world war, Private Russell O. Town, son of Mr. and Mrs. Otis O. Town, who gave his life on the fields of France, will reach his parents at their home, 406 S. Lafayette st., yesterday, that the body had reached the army base at Brooklyn, N. Y., and that it is being shipped to South Bend.

Killed Oct. 7, 1918. Private Town, who was 25 years old, was killed by a shell on Oct. 7, 1918, while he was resting after participating in one of the strenuous offenses of the day before.

He had entered the service Dec. 18, 1917, being sent to Camp Grant at Rockford, Ill., and assigned to the 11th infantry. It was with this unit that he went overseas in April, 1918.

Besides his parents, two brothers, Howard and Forbes of South Bend, and two sisters, Mrs. Lee Cook, of Detroit, and Mrs. A. B. Wilson of Cleveland, also survive. Arrangements for the funeral, which will be a military one at the home of his parents, are now being made.

TRIC CLUB TO HONOR HIGH GRID WARRIORS

Reservations for 125 high school boys have been made by the Tric club in preparation for the annual honor banquet to the South Bend high school football team which will be served at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday at the Y. M. C. A. Coach Knute K. Rockne of Notre Dame; Coach Elmer Burnham of the high school, Captain Edwards of the grid eleven and Captain Scheer of the basketball team are on the program. Coach Rockne's talk will be on "Sportsmanship." Physical Director G. A. Cooper of the Y. M. C. A. will be toastmaster.

A chorus of pretty misses, all under 20, and possessed of good singing voices, help to make the show one of special features. Tinkling music and clean-cut comedy vie with each other for dominance throughout the opening bill, which is entitled "Hello Pansy."

Duck Plays Roles of Assistant to Little Dan Cupid

Sheriff Aids St. Joe, Mich., Couple Obtain Marriage License Here.

It is not often that a county sheriff is called upon to play the part of Dan Cupid's assistant, but such was the case with Lou Duck, the local sheriff, last night.

Responding to a knock on the door, Duck admitted an excited young man, who appeared to be in great difficulty. Gayly bedecked in a Tuxedo, silken white shirt and a troubled look, the young man, responding to the name of Charles Sauerbier of St. Joseph, Mich., confided to the sheriff that he wished to be married and wanted a marriage license.

The sheriff, desirous of helping his caller, as he stated he felt that way once himself, proceeded to get in touch with County Clerk Wilbur M. Warner. After a little difficulty, Duck finally was able to explain that he had a young man at the county jail who wished to get a marriage license at once. The all-important meeting was arranged for 7:45, when Mr. Warner provided the necessary document.

Sauerbier and his bride-to-be, Bessie Cookson, also of St. Joseph, Mich., accompanied by the bridesmaid and the groom's attendant, after showering thanks on Duck and Warner, proceeded to hunt up a minister to tie the knot that binds, firmly believing that they had slipped something over on their many friends back in St. Joe.

DR. GRIGGS REVEALS MISSION OF MUSIC

Lecturer Deals With Browning in Discussing Theme Before Progress Club.

BY LILLA B. ROSTISER. "As light reveals for itself and the darkness, so truth sets the standard for itself and the false," was the simple but elusive message delivered by Dr. Edward Howard Griggs in his lecture Saturday evening at the Progress club.

"Music and the Spirit: Abt Vogler," probably is the only lecture which this speaker will present this season, that will visualize the depth of feeling that Browning, the poet, interpreted in this masterpiece which symbolizes the soul with music, and reveals the divine mission of music throughout the ages. "As usual, Browning used the dramatic vehicle, the monologue, for this natural expression of his appreciation of music through the character, Abt Vogler, the musical genius of that time and contemporary of Mozart," said Dr. Griggs. He added further, "Music is what all else is not. Music is the influence of the emotions that raise man to that lofty level when 'What I possess seems far off, and what I have lost seems mine'."

Browning's Poem Lives. The poem which Dr. Griggs so charmingly portrayed was written in the golden days of the poet's life at Florence, Italy, and was first produced in London. The very beauty of the musical lines has earned for it an inevitable place in English literature. It was written when Browning was on the topmost summit of idealism before descending down to the wastes of the sands and the valleys of despair which tragically closed the last years of his life. "No man can live on the high tops of the mountain forever," declared the speaker. "It is the great man that can carry his vision as if it were now, even after it has vanished."

The kickoff is scheduled for 2:30 p. m., and a large crowd is expected.

At the time, he charges, she was smoking a cigaret and was under the influence of intoxicants. He charges that Mrs. Albertson is an habitual drunkard and that on many occasions she had consumed so much liquor that she was unable to stand on her feet or to talk intelligently or to know what she was doing.

It is further charged in the cross-complaint that Mrs. Albertson struck her husband with a poker, and also that on various occasions she threw coffee pots, dishes, chairs and other articles at him.

It is alleged that on one occasion while armed with an axe that she chopped and ruined an automobile belonging to her husband.

They were married June 10, 1916, and separated Sept. 20, 1921.

PAT PAGE'S GRIDDERS WIN FROM FRANKLIN

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 19.—Butler college football team defeated the Franklin eleven here today, 28 to 0. The contest was slowed down by the muddy condition of the field, neither team having managed success with end runs. Few passes were attempted.

With the exception of the first quarter, when Kiser scored a touchdown after Leelle had taken the ball to Franklin's five-yard line on a forward pass, Butler relied on straight football. The ball was kept in Franklin territory most of the time and the Butler backs had little trouble in eluding the secondary defense of their opponents for markers. Butler scored a touchdown in each period.
